

CHATEAU
BOYD-CANTENAC
GRAND CRU CLASSÉ
MARGAUX

The wines of Château Boyd-Cantenac result from the terroir revealed by the passionate work of all. Belonging to the same family for four generations, they are recognized as being among the most representative Crus of the Margaux appellation. Their magic is to present both finesse, elegance, subtlety, complexity, density, intensity, freshness and length.

During aging, for which they have a remarkable aptitude, each vintage affirms its personality and thus becomes a moving witness to the past.

Tasting note

The 2019 Boyd-Cantenac has a fine, intense, complex nose, very Cabernet-driven, dense with a lot of elegance, beautiful fruit, and subtle woody notes. On the palate, the attack is fine and gradual, silky. Then comes a good body, supple, elongated, with increasing aromatic intensity, like astringency. The finish is flavorful, elegant, very long, with pronounced tannins and great nobility.
